PA NEWC OBSERVES

It is reported that one of the best "patches" of growing corn in this vicinity is near the old Moffatt school house, about eight or nine acres of it, which is on the Ricker farm. By July 4 it is expected to be over knee high. When a farmer was reminded that we used to have corn for July 4th, the answer was, "Thirty years ago we planted oats in March and corn in April, now we plant much later". Seasons, like other things, have also changed.

After trying ineffectually to rain last evening, the clouds finally opened up about six o'clock this morning, and a nice shower occurred, which will be welcomed by gardeners and farmers. The ground had started to dry up again rapidly with the warm sun of the last two days, yesterday's temperature being up over the 90 mark again.

City employees completed today a large abutment on the east side of the Smithfield street bridge, which spans the water way near West Washington street. It looks like a splendid job.

By MARIE MANNING
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 8. — The long-awaited, much-publicized British embassy garden party for King George VI and Queen Elizabeth today will present history with the first meeting between a reigning English monarch and a large, representative cross section of the American people on United States soil.

In the shady confines of the well-kept, conservative gardens of Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth will meet and talk to many of the 1,400 guests.

Among the Guests

Their majesties will meet, among others, a motor magnate whose name is woven into the tale of American history—Henry Ford; a famous aviator and scientist—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh; a labor leader, perhaps two—the CIO's John L. Lewis or the AFL's William Green, or both.

They will meet supreme court justices, cabinet members, senators, representatives, governors, the military high command, "old inhabitants" and socialites.

Nearly a dozen members of the senate indicated they would not attend the garden party, for various

British Rulers Officially Greeted On Entrance Into United States

ROUTE OF TRAIN IS WELL GUARDED

By WALTER KIERNAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROYAL PILOT TRAIN, Enroute Washington, June 8—On to Washington and to the greatest display of defensive power the United States government ever has shown a visitor, sped the royal train of King George and Queen Elizabeth today.

Today precedent is broken—or rather a precedent is set—when the rulers of the British empire are greeted at Washington's Union station by President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Six thousand soldiers, blue jackets and marines will participate in the royal welcome and parade at Washington. Ten army "flying fortress" bombers and 42 pursuit planes will roar overhead.

But the most impressive moment in current history still remained that moment when Secretary of State Cordell Hull greeted his majesty at the American border, welcoming the king and queen to the United States.

New History Made

History was forgotten in that moment. And new history was written. A white-haired, dignified, courtly old statesman welcoming to his country without apology or boast, a sweet-faced woman and a prince who, suddenly by force of circumstance, had been thrust into office

Some of the outlying companies will answer more alarms under the new system, going into Central station when equipment from the down town companies are called out.

British Rulers Reach Washington At 11 O'Clock For Historic Visit

PARADE THROUGH CHEERING THRONGS

Taken To White House As Parade Over Pennsylvania Ave., Is Ended

By WALTER KIERNAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 8.—With a warm handshake and his famous smile, President Roosevelt today welcomed their Britannic majesties, King George and Queen Elizabeth, to the capital in a reception symbolic of the traditional friendship between the world's two great democracies.

The tall, handsome young king of an empire on which the sun never sets, and his blue-eyed queen, received an ovation such as Washington seldom before has accorded a distinguished visitor.

Roar Of Artillery

The shattering roar of saluting artillery, the stirring strains of "God Save The King" and the "Star Spangled Banner," the drone of army bombing and pursuit squadrons overhead, mingled with the deep, throaty cheer of 600,000 citizens who jammed the streets to catch their first glimpse of British royalty.

Virtually every high American dignitary, top-hatted and in formal attire, accompanied by their wives, were on hand to greet their majesties.

Six thousand marines, soldiers and sailors, their military accouterments gleaming in the hot June sun, lined the way from the Union station plaza past the high-domed capitol and up historic Pennsylvania avenue to the White House.

Formal Greeting

In the blue-carpeted presidential reception room stood the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, surrounded by members of the cabinet, Vice President and Mrs. Garner, court justices, and heads of the army, navy and marine corps, to extend America's official greeting to the king and queen.

As they stepped from the royal train with Secretary of State and Mrs. Cordell Hull, their majesties walked from the station platform through a double-lined marine corps honor guard to the reception room.

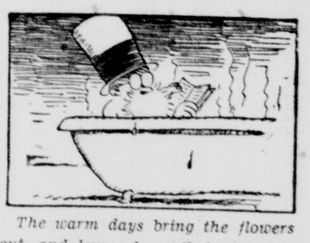

The marine guard, dressed in formal parade blues and armed with bayoneted rifles, presented arms as the king and queen stepped to the platform.

A tremendous, sustained cheer arose from the packed throng outside as word was flashed that the royal train had arrived.

The king wore the gold-braided uniform of an admiral of his ma-

No matter if your'e sweltering and mercury is high, your collar gone, your brow all wet, your throat is lime-kiln dry, you have to stop and listen to the lad who wants to run, he has the office in the bag, he's waiting for the gun. He tells you of his early days, and how he has behaved, and on and on you know the stuff, you've often heard them rave. And now the heat is on again and candidates are here, ah me the weather's eighty-eight and dry and warm and clear.

Germany To Expel 18,000 Polish Jews

Reich Issues Order Today

July 21 Set As Time Limit For Carrying Out Order Of Expulsion

NEGOTIATIONS ON REPATRIATION FAIL

(International News Service)

BERLIN, June 8.—Expulsion from Germany of 18,000 Polish Jews by July 21 was decreed by the Reich government today.

Failure of negotiations between Germany and Poland regarding repatriation of the exiles was responsible for the order. Four hundred Polish Jews already have been arrested in Munich and will be held pending deportation.

Some Given Short Time

In Dresden and other cities the Jews were given only until noon tomorrow to leave the country or face interment in concentration camps until they can be sent across the border.

The group to be exiled consists of 15,000 Polish Jewish citizens and 3,000 others, lacking passports, who are described as "stateless." It was believed that all in the second category will be jailed until they are expelled. Numerous arrests were reported in Berlin.

BRITISH EMBASSY GARDEN PARTY TO MAKE HISTORY

reasons. Some of them habitually stay away from all social functions; others had other reasons which they did not divulge.

Among those expected to be missing when tea is poured in the pleasant garden of the embassy were Senators Donahey of Ohio, Nye of North Dakota, Maloney and Danaher of Connecticut, Smith of South Carolina, Russell of Georgia and Austin of Vermont. Senator Bridges of New Hampshire and Van Nuys of Indiana have been ill, and there was some doubt whether either would be able to attend.

Some Hand-Picked

Only about 30 persons, hand-picked by Lady Lindsay, will be privileged to take tea and chat with their majesties on the embassy's verandaed portico, but in view of the democratic manner that characterized the king and queen on their Canadian trip, no surprise will be occasioned should they stoy to meet and talk with scores of others during their strolls through the garden.

As with all parties, last-minute difficulties arose to harass the careworn Lady Lindsay.

The weatherman said thundershowers would break over heat-stricken Washington in mid-afternoon. Lady Lindsay said the party would go on—regardless.

Weather Warm

The caterers said strawberries—essential to any English garden party—were almost out of season. Lady Lindsay said "grow some especially". That was, of course, some time ago. The caterers did, and the anxiously-watched berries were red and ripe today.

It way way too warm for the conventional morning coat, striped trousers and gray toppers. Lady Lindsay told the men to wear cool white linens, the ladies to wear street-length dresses.

The female guests wanted to know if they should curtsy to the queen; the men if they should shake hands with the king. Lady Lindsay advised them to follow their own dictates of good taste.

Finally, all obstacles—or most of them—were overcome, and barring a few casualties resulting from literally "dropping a curtsy" in practice, the 1,400 guests were ready for Washington's biggest, brightest social event of the century.

HISTORIC SCENE AT NIAGARA FALLS

as king-emperor of the empire once the "Mother Country" of America.

The ceremony was brief but none the less impressive.

In welcoming the British rulers, Secretary Hull said:

"Your Majesties—on behalf of the government and people of the United States, I have the honor and pleasure of extending to you, our warmest welcome.

"All are delighted with your visit. The people of my country in the most genuine spirit of cordial hospitality and friendliness, have the desire to make your stay a thoroughly enjoyable one."

Mrs. Hull greeted the smiling queen with these words:

"Your Majesty—it is a great honor for me to meet and greet you." She presented a corsage of orchids to the queen.

The meeting between the British rulers and the official greeters was delightfully informal. The king grasped the secretary of state by the hand and almost as soon as the train had stopped and he stepped off.

Others Presented

Sir Ronald Lindsay, British Ambassador to the United States presented Secretary Hull and Mrs. Hull and Secretary of State introduced in turn, Major General Hugh A. Drum, U. S. A., who will be military aide to the king in the United States; Rear Admiral James O. Richardson, U. S. N., who will be Naval aide; George T. Summerlin, chief of Protocol for the state department: Michael J. McDermott, chief of the division of current information of the state department; Robert C. Bannerman, chief special agent and several others.

That the federal government is taking no chances of any harm coming to their majesties was apparent as soon as the train crossed the border.

A company of regular army soldiers was drawn up at suspension bridge station and all during the night as the royal train proceeded on to Washington it passed lone sentries spaced approximately 50 yards apart, each with fixed bayonet and each apparently intent on seeing to it that the train passed his own particular sentry point without incident.

The precautions were particularly evident in cities through which the train passed. Spectators at all points were kept a full street width from the right of way in contrast to Canada where at times audiences could and did reach out and touch the train.

Community progress is the slow business of waiting for fires or the funerals of those who make a profit out of ugliness and nastiness.

ROBINSON CRUSOE PARADISE

Tobago, the reputed tropical island paradise of Defoe's Robinson Crusoe, lies off the northeast coast of Trinidad, not far from the mainland of Venezuela and the mouth of the Orinoco river. The island's vegetation is luxuriantly tropical. Trinidad's Port of Spain, one of the most cosmopolitan small cities in the world, is only 20 miles away.

FIRST M. E. GUILD LUNCHEON SUCCESS

Bringing to a close a most successful two year period under the guidance of Mrs. Grace Crawford, retiring president, the First Methodist church Ladies' Guild entertained at a beautifully appointed 1 o'clock luncheon Wednesday afternoon in their church social rooms.

The occasion marked their second annual event, and it proved delightfully informal in every way, the guests numbering upwards of a hundred and fifty. They were seated in groups of six, eight and more, at individual dining tables with a hostess presiding over each. A profusion of flowers decorated the social room and bouquets of garden blooms formed the table centerpieces.

After the singing of the Doxology, a delicious menu was served. During the course of conversation, it was found the party held a double significance inasmuch as it was the first time the new table linens, a gift of Mrs. Fred L. Rentz, and the new dishes recently purchased, had been used.

WHAT ISOLATION?

SECRETARY HULL in a recent speech in Chicago denounced in unmeasured terms proposals for national isolation. He declared that if such a policy were carried out the result would be national regimentation, and that to reach its ultimate conclusion would involve readjustments of such magnitude "that it could not possibly be accomplished without far reaching intervention on the part of the government with dangerous social effects."

The genial secretary in making this denunciation was using favorite New Deal strategy which is setting up a straw man and then proceeding to demolish it with argument.

Of course something might be said about the policy of regimentation which would have unpleasant memories. We have only to recall the NRA, the AAA, the NLRB and other activities of the present administration, many of which have already gone to the bowwows.

But that is, of course, beside the point. When he talks about dangers of regimentation, Mr. Hull evidently has in mind Italy and Germany where the economic system is based principally on an acute shortage of raw materials. The case of the United States is in nowise parallel.

But the chief flaw in his argument is that there is no considerable group of people in the United States which proposes to adopt the policy of isolation as Mr. Hull envisions it. No economist or politician here wants to build a wall around the country. They realize that this could not and ought not be done. But they insist that we seek to expand our foreign trade with countries which can send us products not in direct competition with American farmers and workers. This can be done if we set about to do it. But this is far different from seeking to "restore the country" by importing Argentine beef, Australian wool and Canadian cheese, to the detriment of American producers.

FOR THE CHILDREN

The many jokes about Father's Day make it a little hard to get serious and sentimental about it. Probably the last one to expect much of it is father himself. And probably dad would never think of Father's Day if no one called it to his attention. He has so many other things to think of!

Maybe it would be a good idea to remind him in a nice way. A present will be in order, but also show him a little special consideration, a whispered word of appreciation. Let him know that you are aware of all his planning and care and worry and work that result in the welfare and happiness of the family. That will make Father's Day stand out in his memory.

THINGS TO COME

Alluding to the tremendous developments in chemistry during the last few years, a speaker at a recent convention said:

"The rate of change is extraordinary, and those processes which are five years old are looked upon with suspicion and those ten years old can almost be assumed to be out of date."

The speaker went on to talk about automobile bodies made entirely of plastics, of bedsteads and carved chairs being stamped out in ten seconds' time. And of soilless plant growth:

"Given the proper chemical elements and necessary moisture and air and light, remarkable results can be obtained under controlled conditions in what must be considered a factory."

Another process which is "under suspicion" is our ways of heating and cooling dwellings and other buildings. A panel in walls will radiate heat to the clothing and absorb heat from clothing by the same method. Even our clothing, according to the chemists, may be out of date.

When we speak of revolution, it is usually in terms of politics. As a matter of fact, we are being subjected to revolutionary processes every year we live, especially by the chemists—and they are probably only on the threshold of things to come.

A WOMAN OF SIXTY GETS HER DIPLOMA

It would not seem a proper commencement season without occasional instances of mothers and daughters graduating together, or men or women considered elderly in years but still of youthful zest obtaining degrees which fate withheld from them in their twenties.

Of the latter group is Miss Edna LaRoss, who was a freshman at Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pennsylvania, back in 1896, but did not remain. Long later, living in New York, she took some work at Columbia, then decided to fulfill an old yearning for a Dickinson degree. She returned last fall, and now at 60 has her sheepskin.

Call it mere sentiment; call it well-known feminine persistence and never-give-up spirit; call it preparation for the fuller life which as every graying person knows does not begin until around threescore years. Anyhow, she took her place with the youngsters and listened with them to solemn speeches on "youth's opportunities and responsibilities."

Other grown-ups can well envy Miss LaRoss and all other mature persons who can be and insist on being 20 for one glorious week. May all the sublimities proffered and predicted for their classmates who have now barely matriculated at life's school be theirs in special abundance.

The Stentor of the Iliad, barking at the gates of Troy," with the voice of fifty men," was not wired for sound. Our barkers are, however, and, while the comparative rating in decibels is not at hand, I have an idea that if you throw a loudspeaker throttle wide-open you'll get several times the Stentor's classic sound volume.

That's one reason why the barkers at Coney Island and elsewhere are more and more in trouble with the John Laws. The competition of a dozen or two amplifiers along the boardwalk can set up the devil's own racket. While Coney Island takes noise in its stride, or its whirl, the spielers are being harrassed by almost daily new restrictions and some of them are now complaining that you have to be deaf and dumb and work by sign language to make a living in New Yorks favorite squirrel cage.

ACQUIRING GOOD TABLE MANNERS

ONE REASON why our children are not very ready to respond to our efforts to promote good manners in them is because we give them the impression that we want them to be mannerly just for our own pride and pleasure. We would realize more improvement if we could make them feel it is to their personal advantage to become mannerly. It would be wise if we could instill in a child of eight or ten such thoughts as these, as expressed by a youngster of that age:

"I can see now as I never saw before that to have good table manners is to keep from being selfish. It is to give constant thought about the comfort and happiness of others in our presence. When I tip my chair or slouch while sitting at the table, or lean on my elbows or spread them out and take up a lot of room at the table, or crowd the person next to me, or play with the cup or glass, or make noises with them, I disturb others at the table. Refined people want other persons and things about the table to be neat and dainty and quiet. When I drink liquids fast and noisily, take large mouthfuls, or talk with food in my mouth, or bend my head down near the plate as I eat, I am making myscelf very unpleasant. When I smack my lips, sip soup, or make any kind of unnecessary noise, or when I butter a piece of bread or try to eat it or a sandwich or a large piece of cake without first breaking it, I suggest piggishness.

Watched Mother

"Last evening I watched my mother as she ate dinner. I noticed that when she asked for a second helping, she laid her knife and fork on the side of her plate, and she kept them there when she was not using them. When she buttered her bread she first broke it into small pieces. Small pieces of bread look more dainty than large ones. I can understand why I often make the table cloth about my plate messy, why it is always neat and tidy about Mother's plate. Also I can now understand why Mother told me one should never use a spoon which had already been used in food to take sugar from a bowl. I can see why she told me never to leave a spoon in a cup or glass, for if I should not be very careful, I might upset the liquid.

"I also notice that my feather has good manners. He sits up straight at the table, never slouches in his chair or tips it. He never croses his knees at the table, never wraps his feet about the legs of the chair, nor puts them on the rounds of the chair nor on the table legs. I want to be big and mannerly like Mother and Dad."

BY-PRODUCTS OF OIL

A modern petroleum refinery can produce six products at once—and sometimes more.

The old-fashioned refinery, a cast iron still with a condensing tube, housed under a lean-to, refined five barrels of petroleum in twenty-four hours. It turned out three products—naptha, "illuminating oil," and heavy oil containing paraffin.

Modern oil refineries cover several acres, use many processes, employ both heat and pressure, and operate continuously at capacities, as high as 150,000 barrels of crude oil and cracking stock per day.

With the modern refinery, the highest vapors rise to the top of the tower, emerge as raw gasoline. Continuous purifying changes the product into motor fuel. The net product is raw kerosene which becomes finished kerosene.

Gas oil follows, part being processed into heavy fuel oils, and part "cracked" into additional supplies of motor fuel. Then come lube distillate, which is processed into finished lubricating oils. Heavy bottoms are processed into raw gasoline, gas oil, paraffin oils, coke and asphalt.

THE GOLFING PARSON FINDS TROUBLE

The game the golfing parson plays
Would not entice a man to church
Too oft and far his body sways.
His swing is too much lunge and lurch,
The parson, be it understood,
Finds trouble being very good.

Like us of ordinary minds
And all the frailties of the clay,
The golfing parson often finds
The best planned shots will go astray.
And meaning well it oft occurs
The golfing parson sadly errs.

The golfing parson shakes his head
"I know the right," he says to me,
"I know what Alex Ross has said,
I know just what the shot should be.
But still no matter how I try
A miserable man am I."

"Yes, yes," I answer, "it is sad
"To see a parson go astray.
With all the lessons you have had
You surely know the proper way.
But here perfection's seldom reached
It's hard to practice what is preached.

A note, signed "Sinful Seven" was left in the mailbox of Paul Z. Freeman, S. D., farmer. The note read: "Leave $200 in a tobacco can under a stump at the southeast corner of the northwest forty acres or will leave a baby on your doorstep."

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 7:29; sun rises tomorrow 4:28.

We often hear people talking of serious cases of love. They really mean they are fatal.

Wouldn't it be nice to hoard enough so one could throw his soiled laundry away and buy new?

A good way to get rid of borrowers of small amounts is to lend it to them. They seldom come back as long as they owe the amount and in the long run it is a cheap way to get rid of them.

You can tell an ism that is evil and treacherous. It demands America's free speech, but uses a club on anybody who dares to laugh or talk back.

Aside from its transportation value, you get a lot for your money in buying the average auto, says the California State Automobile Association. It contains a ton and a third of steel, 33 pounds of copper and brass, two pounds of tin, 27 pounds of lead, 144 pounds of cast pig iron, 110 pounds of rubber, a tenth of a bale of cotton, 13 square yards of upholstery fabric, 2.5 gallons of spraying lacquer, 37 pounds of paper and fiber board and 18 square feet of glass.

People continue to have the utmost respect for George Washington despite the suits masquerade costumers peddle for parties.

Twenty-one spies were beheaded in Germany so far this year. One thing can be truly said about Germany and that is that they have a very effective way of disposing of spies. We treat them fine in this country instead of cutting their legs off right under their chins.

In these times men are created equal to stand almost anything.

A certain old maid had a pet mama cat that she kept confined at home. This winter she took a southern cruise and wrote the following letter home: "I'm having more darn fun——met a swell guy on the boat and have been having cocktails with him every evening. It's the swellist time I've ever had."

P. S.—"Let the cat out tonight."

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor have to live on $225,000 a year. That's what he gets for quiting the king job. We don't see how they get along with that amount and keep enough help.

TODAY'S STORYETTE

Discovering another mistake in his letters, the enraged employer summoned his new typist.

"You came here with good testimonials, Miss Moulter," he barked, "and do you mean to tell me you don't know the King's English?"

"Of course I do," she replied. "If he wasn't he couldn't be King, could he?"

Even in these depressing times, for a little matter of fifty cents one can still get a fortune teller to say he will soon inherit a million.

A man in Beaver got sixty days in the jailhouse for not taking enough baths. Now, honestly, tell us how many baths is enough?

LIFE'S LITTLE AGONIES

"Oh how clean you've made them," said the short-sighted old lady. One would hardly think there was any glass there."

"Well, there ain't much, lady," answered the window-cleaner. "Me and the ladder's just been through there."

The high price of silk stockings is blamed on the Japanese because they have not been taking the right care of the cocoons. Gals, we have millions of bales of cotton in this country that are just waiting to be made into stockings.

Several Pennsylvania judges have ruled that saloonkeepers can sell liquor in bottles to be carried away from the premises. Maybe that's better than carrying it away under the hide—easier to lug.

Men who complain that beer foments in their stomachs act as if they wanted it to.

ALL FINISHED

They say this actually happened. A high school girl, seated next to an astronomer at a dinner party struck up a conversation with him by asking, "What do you do in life?"

He replied, "I study astronomy."

"Dear me," said the girl; "I finished astronomy last year."

A woman made the claim in her suit for divorce against her husband that his temper increased in proportion to his income. Another of those birds who cannot stand prosperity.

Mother: "Have you been mother's little angel today?"

Anger: "Yes, I didn't hit grandma today."

A racetrack meter indicated that men drivers are quicker than women drivers at putting on the brakes, but to provide a really fair test the brakes should be available from the back seat.

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

By Francine Markel

Today, at the dentist's I was jittered by a fellow patient in the waiting room wh kept licking his fingers while turning the pages of the magazines on the table. In the first place, if his mouth were healthy, he wouldn't have been at the dentist's. Therefore, his bad habit will probably infect the fingers of others who read the same periodicals. And vice versa, he was collecting mouth germs from patients with the same habit who had thumbed those same publications before him. Returning home with this thought in mind, what did I find but one of my oldest friends mouthing his fingers while browsing through the books of my library. What I told him may be a strain on the entente cordiale, but I can't help it. When I have my next book plates printed, they will carry the design printed above and the caption: "Turn these pages with unkissed fingers."

Reader's Question Answered

Dear Miss Markel—At a dinner party, who rises first to leave the table after dinner is over? DEB.

Answer—No one leaves the table until the hostess rises. She, of course, waits until everyone has finished. The women go first and the men follow.

Tomorrow—Annoying Habits

A Hollywood actress who is working on a play called "Are Husbands Necessary," is applying for a divorce. They don't seem to be in her case.

When a local man went into a store to make some purchases he said to the clerk, "What color are your window blinds?" The clerk replied "They are all shades."

In a long glistening Rolls Royce, he glided up to the filling station and called out, "Let's have some gas."

"How much do you want?" asked the man in overalls, eyeing the car admiringly. The motorist, struck by a sudden thought, put a hand in his pocket and 25 cents was all he had in his clothes.

"One gallon," said he.

The man in overalls glanced over the big car again and then fixed the driver with a stare of utter disgust.

"One gallon!" he sneered, "watcher tryin' to do, wean it?"

Away back when we were kids, some of us, when school closed, hiked to the country and got a job on a farm. We worked hard for very little, but it helped a lot. Don't forget this, however, kids, farmers have no use for loafers on their farms.

The hardest thing in this life is to keep down expenses while one is trying to keep up appearances.

It is said that President Roosevelt is going to appoint Ex-Gov. Earl of Pennsylvania to a foreign ambassadorship. Most people hope it will be to some country far away.

"Why do you want such a big sink?" asked the plumber of a man who was building a new home.

"Well," explained the man, "when my wife leaves in the summer, she's generally gone a month."

We imagine a fellow could have a pretty nifty time with the gals if he would announce himself as a Hollywood talent scout.

"Jack," said the Sunday school teacher, "will you tell us the story of Adam and Eve in your own words?"

"Well," said Jack, "God made Adam, then He made Eve so she could make the garden."

Have you heard this one? Two men met. One said, "How's your wife, George?" And George replied, "Not so good, old boy. She's just had quinsy."

"Gosh," exclaimed the other, "how many does that make for you now?"

Evicted from their Los Angeles, Calif., apartment, Henry Heisler and William Lynch went to war against tenants who had replaced them. Their strategy was scattering Limburger cheese through the building so that the tenants would move out and they could move back in.

What's What At A Glance

Japanese Don't Impeach Folks
Unwanted Ones Are Simply Purged
Government Does Not Rule Country

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, June 8.—In its confidential moods state department officialdom admits that the chief difficulty it experiences in its diplomatic dealings with the Japanese government arises from the fact that the Japanese government, in the last analysis, isn't the real government of Japan.

At present Adolf Hitler actually IS Germany's government. It generally is agreed that he's tricky. Even when he makes a diplomatic bargain, the negotiators of the second part are suspicious, in advance, that he doesn't intend to keep his word. Japan's foreign office is internationally recognized as reasonably well-meaning. What it promises, it means to perform—if it can.

The foreign minister in Tokio, however, may conclude an international dicker in all good faith, but if he tries too hard to stick to the mikado's half of it, and if Nippon's war department disapproves of it, he becomes an exceedingly poor life insurance risk.

Illustratively:

A few years back, before the pending Far Eastern undeclared war broke out, Jap militarists undertook to grab Shanghai, on the Chinese coast. They encountered more resistance than they expected. The then Japanese Premier Inukai said it was literally impossible for him to finance so formidable a campaign as appeared to be impending. It was true. It since has been demonstrated that the Japs are going broke, endeavoring to gobble China. Nevertheless, a military committee dropped in on Mr. Inukai and assassinated him, to teach him and his successors that they'd BETTER find funds, whether available or not, for any enterprise militarily suggested.

Plenty of Such Purges

Shortly ahead of Premier Inukai's elimination Premier Hamaguchi was similarly erased for not being belligerent enough. Later Finance Minister Takahashi, Grand Chamberlain Suzuki and Legislators Makoto and Watanabe were mopped up as insufficiently quarrelsome.

Half a dozen assassinations of leading statesmen in less than as many years! A fairly good record! There was no complaint about it, either. It's a kind of an electoral system.

It's different from ours, though.

Here our war department is an executive branch. War Secretary Woodring doesn't have Secretary of State Hull killed if the latter fixes up a treaty that the former doesn't like.

In Japan the war department is as independent of the rest of the government as the traditional hog on ice. It's independent of the rest of the departments and of parliament and of the mikado himself. Even the mikado would stand a fat chance of liquidation if he defied the military class. For that matter, the Japanese secretary of war would be likely to be "bumped off" by the rank-and-file if he turned pacifistically "sassy".

It's a survival of the ancient "samurai"—the birds who killed everybody else, or killed themselves.

Japanese Diplomacy

Japanese diplomacy is all right.

Our Tokio ambassador, Joseph C. Grew, gets along with the Tokio foreign office admirably.

He could make compacts with Japan that would stick, if Japanese militarism would let 'em stick. Hirosi Saito, Japan's last ambassador in this country, was so popular here that, when he died in Washington recently, a United States cruiser was assigned to take his casket back to his home country.

Oh, yes; the Japs are o. k.

Their militarists are the cannibals.

They are a reversion to the dark ages.

So also, perhaps, is Hitler, but he isn't quite so obvious about it as the Japanese militarists are.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

The Spending Plans

WASHINGTON, June 8.

IT HAS been convincingly demonstrated at this session of Congress that no effective fight to stop the terrific outpouring of Federal funds can be made without White House leadership. To be sure, an occasional victory such as the defeat of the Florida ship canal and the reduction in the relief request can be achieved. But with the weight of the Executive against curtailment, inevitably the cuts are made up by increases in other directions.

IT IS, of course, to be deplored that Congress, by itself, cannot do this job. It is particularly to be deplored that so huge an increase as $400,000,000 should have been added to the farm bill—this time against the President's expressed wish. It would have been fine to have seen sincere advocates of economy, like Byrd and Glass, Taft and Vandenberg, join in a stand up and knock down fight to prevent this indefensible grab. While there was some excuse for them in the facts that neither the bill nor the increases could possibly have been defeated with the President's closest friends ignoring his disapproval of the latter and the official floor leaders entering into a secret agreement to avoid a roll call—still the franker economy advocates admit it would have been better to have made more of a fight—no matter how futile—if only for the sake of the record.

NEVERTHELESS, they resent the effort to make it appear that the leaders of the economy bloc are in a state of collapse. Particularly, they resent the spurious wrath of New Deal spokesmen who assail the sincerity of the anti-New Dealers, Democrats and Republicans, who consistently have insisted upon the necessity of retrenchment. In view of the open connivance of Mr. Roosevelt's Senatorial leader, Mr. Barkley, in the plan to avoid a vote and the authorized activity of AAA agents in soliciting membership for the American Farm Bureau Federation, the chief force behind the increased appropriations—in view of these things, the White House indignation at the Senate action appears decidedly phony.

UNDER the circumstances it seems slightly absurd for the high-minded publicists who feel strongly on this subject of economy to devote so much energy to denouncing anti-Administration Senators for not performing one hundred per cent. in the matter of these agricultural increases while disregarding the hypocrisy of the Administration, whose President publicly deplores an action made possible only through his own easily controlled friends in the Senate, supported by AAA agents who lined up with the farm lobby. To fiercely criticize the economy bloc for not fully functioning, justified as some criticism is, and ignore the humbuggery of the Administration position, is not to serve the cause of retrenchment but to render it disservice.

THE truth is that, so far from a desire to retrench, the whole New Deal outfit, from President down, is set for a period of spending in the next sixteen months such as has not been seen before. Aside from the parity payment increases, the appropriations for next year, approved by the President, easily will run the total above the $10,000,000,000 of the current year. But that is by no means all. White House plans embrace other spending schemes of an indirect but effective character. One is the pending Mead bill, the avowed purpose of which is to extend through the banks credit to small business people. Actually it is a method of putting out more money. By insuring the loans made by the banks the Government will make it impossible to refuse money to any applicant able to put up as little as twenty per cent. collateral. This amounts practically to a gift of Government money, and every banker knows it.

ANOTHER White House spending plan now i process of development by White House economists proposes to raise old-age pensions to $40 a month for single persons and $60 a month for married couples. The thought back of this idea is beautifully summed up by Senator Pepper, of Florida, who declared "It is important to the Democratic party and besides the old people deserve the money." By the "inner circle" it would be more elegantly expressed, but no concealment is there made that such a move would not only fit into the President's spending but be wonderful politics.

AT the moment, strong Administration support is being given to the Workers Alliance conference in Washington, the aim of which is to "break." He is quoted as saying that the police have exercised "too much zeal," and it is indicated that he would not wrench the "poor man's Palm Beach" too violently out of its traditional pattern.

Robert Moses, conjuring a park elysium in New York, with energy and genius which is impatient with noise and with such "bagmen's delights" as the wayside honkytonk, has been bearing down pretty hard on the pitchmen, spielers and barkers, trying to pipe them down to decorum and up to the seemly standards of the American Bar Association. The police have been nagging the barkers with various licensing restrictions and it began to look as if only Harvard graduates, touting Walter Pater in seminar accents, could qualify. But the magistrates have loosened many of these chains and multitudes visiting New York, the fair and the nearby resorts will not observe that our stentors are suffering from any particular frustration or laryngeal padlocks. We are pretty much as we were and, for certain definite reasons, I have an idea that our solons, whose antennae sense the public mind, will not too swiftly bring in our noisless Utopia.

New York, with vast legions of out-of-town visitors, has long been the paradise of the ballyhooers. Long here or just visiting, we all bring with us our "boyhood of wonder and hope," and, fabulously in the picture is JoJo the Dog-faced Man," and "The Man with the Elastic Skin." Luring us step-by-step is the elegant personage with oiled, curley hair, varnished boots, spangled scarf and glittering diamonds.

My favorite, out in Indiana, was old "Doc" Somebody who, from the transfer wagon sold "Tiger Marrow Fat." I am sure that no youngsters now seeing the African film, "Dark Rapture" get more of a thrill than we obtained from Doc's recital of the perils and hardships of that expedition into darkest Africa—and how they finally brought down the tiger and got the marrow fat to banish all human ailments.

There was a world of beneficence in Doc's assurance that personal examinations and prescriptions would be dispensed on the following day," in the large brick building directly opposite. "The doc, with his Prince Albert coat, his distinguished white mustache and his air of kindly assurance somehow made the world feel safer, no matter what ailed us. My elders informed me that he was just an old humbug, but I knew that Uncle Tarbox, after taking three bottles of tiger marrow-fat, felt so good that he went out for the first time in a year and had three fights, at the age of 83.

We aren't either touting the touts or chuting the chutes. They are as they may be and as sure as gospel Robert Moses et al will someday usher us into a nice, decorous, sanitary cosmos in which JoJo the Dog-Faced Boy will be honestly labeled. But the late G. K. Chesterton insisted that we had better cling to what magic we had—even if some of it was fake—and he noted, furthermore, that there was more social security in the world of preposterous make-believe than there ever could be in a world of scientific certainties. And if you stop to think about it, the more scientific certification of this and that, the more we are troubled by uncertainty. Both are, paradoxically, at their peak in this prophylactic era.

The Great Game Of Politics

compel Congress to appropriate an additional $150,000,000 for relief. And there are other spending plans under cover. In brief, regardless of the size of the debt or the depth of the deficit, the Administration is determined to turn on the Federal spigots more fully than before. There are two impelling reasons—one, the fact that spending is the only policy now left to the New Dealers, and they are afraid to stop lest their general failure become disastrously plain; the other, because it is the one way they can think of to carry over beyond the 1940 elections. Clearly, these plans are fraught with peril to the nation as a whole. It would seem more worth while to dwell upon that fact than continue to harp upon the lack of militancy in the economy bloc in the matter of the parity payments. The chief effect of the latter is to give the spenders an alibi.

Wonder what miners and mine owners gain by stopping income for a month or so and then doing what they intended to do in the first place.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. ROOSEVELT GIVE WELCOME

jesty's navy. Queen Elizabeth was an enchanting picture in an ensemble of "queen's blue".

The walk from the train to the presidential reception room took only a few moments, the king and queen leading the way.

As the king and queen entered the reception room, President and Mrs. Roosevelt with the waiting assemblage of dignitaries, smiled in welcome.

President Grasps King's Hand

President Roosevelt grasped the king's hand, smiling broadly and gave it a vigorous shake. The king and the president greeted each other like old friends.

Then the president shook hands with the queen and introductions were exchanged between the king and queen and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Secretary of State Hull, a tall figure in dark formal attire, made the presentations.

Then the presentation of the vice president and members of the cabinet began.

It was a truly Democratic welcome. There was no curtsying or bowing. Everyone shook hands in American fashion.

The introductions over, the royal party moved immediately to the entrance to the station plaza.

As the king and president appeared, the marine band broke into the strains of "God Save The King," and then "The Star Spangled Banner".

The king gave a military salute and the president held his silk hat over his breast as the music rolled across the plaza.

Amid tremendous cheers, the president entered his car, followed by the king and the president's military aide, Col. Edwin Watson. Their car led the parade.

Parade Starts

They were followed immediately by a car bearing Mrs. Roosevelt, the queen and the president's naval aide.

A white parasol was opened to shield the queen from the beating June sun. She smiled and talked animatedly with Mrs. Roosevelt. She glanced around frequently, apparently trying to take in all the sights. She smiled and nodded as Mrs. Roosevelt explained them.

As the jam-packed crowds broke into a cheer of genuine welcome and friendship, the king smiled and raised his hand continuously to his cockaded admiral's hat in salute. President Roosevelt waved to the crowd and smiled broadly.

As the precession began up Delaware avenue toward the Capitol, the President chatted amiably with the king.

Four armored cars flanked the two royal cars, and 30 armed tanks clattered in smart, precise formation behind.

Overhead, the roar of 10 of the army's giant four-engined flying fortresses and 42 glitteringly silver pursuit planes filled the air.

In flying vee's the huge air squadrons dipped down over the parade formation.

Queen Bows and Smiles

As the procession went slowly toward the Capitol the queen turned her head from side to side constantly, bowing and smiling, not to lose a single detail of the magnificent welcome.

From the station to the Capitol and down Pennsylvania avenue to the White House there was one constant roar from the welcoming crowds which packed every available square foot of the line of march, crowded building tops and filled every window.

The welcoming tens of thousands were in holiday mood.

So friendly was their acclaim that as the royal procession and their tank escorts went past the crowds broke through the troops and police lines and followed up the avenue in a mass of mingled, wildly cheering humanity.

The crowd was orderly, but their enthusiasm swept them away.

As the procession and military escort passed, almost from the moment it left the station and rolled up Delaware avenue to the Capitol plaza, turned and proceeded down Pennsylvania, the cheering crowd passed through the lines and formed into a sea spreading over the avenues.

Cheer Loud and Long

Cheering constantly, they swept in a great wave up Pennsylvania avenue to the gates of the White House itself.

There they stood outside, cheering long and loudly.

It was a sight such as Washington perhaps had never seen before and may not see again soon.

A broiling sun beat down from a cloudless, blue sky.

The thermometer stood at 90 degrees and, in the crush of humanity hundreds fainted, overcome by the heat and their enthusiasm. One death was reported.

Police and Red Cross first aid rescue squads were kept busy, but carried out their job in smart fashion.

The procession reached the White House at 11:44 a. m. and swept through the east gates to the south entrance.

Their welcome was sustained in the ears of their majesties for many minutes after they had entered the White House.

Are YOU fed up on phoney claims, too?

● Do motor car advertising claims make you groggy? Are you suffering from "adjectivitis"? Man, there's just one way to learn the TRUTH about the low-price cars for 1939—and that's to get your information FIRST-HAND!

Stop in at one of our showrooms. Say to us: "I want you to PROVE to me that the Ford V-8 is the biggest motoring value in the low-price field! I want you to PROVE that beneath Ford's style leadership there's QUALITY LEADERSHIP! I want you to SHOW me the extra equipment I get in a Ford, that I'd pay extra for in other low-price cars!

"I don't want CLAIMS—I want PROOF—FACTS—FIGURES! I don't want fancy adjectives and fast talk on performance—I want to drive the car MYSELF! Brother, I'm from MISSOURI!"

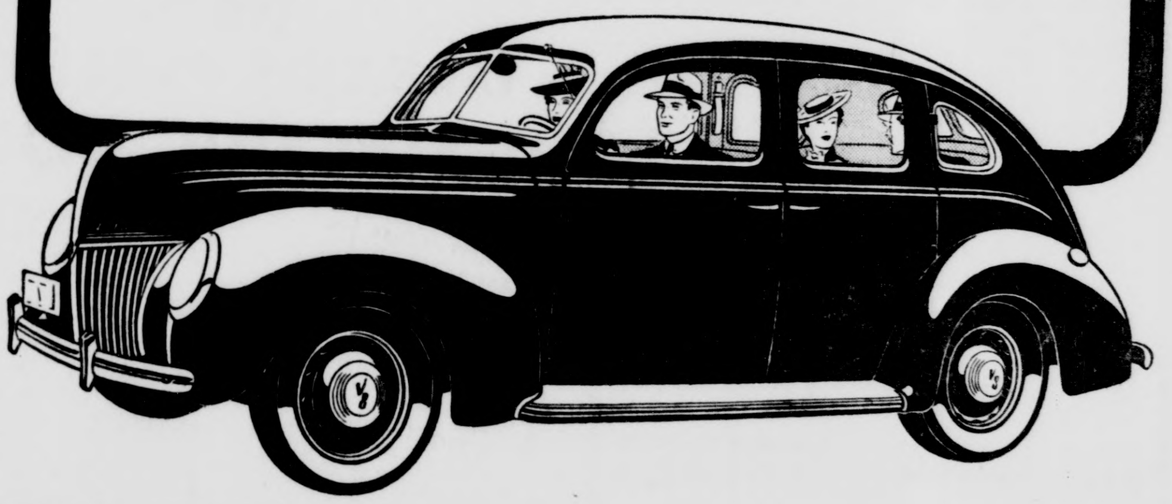

When you leave that showroom, you'll know a lot more about cars than you know now. You'll be able to "appraise" an automobile advertisement, same as we're able to appraise an automobile.

Mark it down in your little black book right now—"See my Ford dealer today." There's one of us located near you!

Sincerely yours

First Methodists Discuss Tribute To Ira Sankey In '40

Plan For Observance Of 100th Anniversary Of Birth Of Late New Castle Resident

Looking forward to a community-wide recognition in 1940 of the 100th anniversary of the birth of Ira D. Sankey, New Castle's eminent hymn writer and distinguished citizen of earlier days, the official board of First Methodist church last night moved to have a church committee designated to guide preparations for the observance.

Rev. W. V. McLean, pastor of the church, who will name the committee shortly declared:

"Ira Sankey was a great man and New Castle will honor his memory next year. He was great in many ways and we of the First Methodist church want to plan a tribute to him. Other community groups will probably join us."

Sankey donated the ground upon which stands the First Methodist church and the Young Men's Christian Association.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

AROUND CITY HALL

"There is no serious crime here. Everything is under control," Chief of Police Ralph A. Criswell stated today. During the past week or more there has been an absence of petty, or auto thefts. Very few arrests have been made.

"Parents should warn their children against driving recklessly or speeding automobiles," Mayor Charles E. McGrath stated today. Reports from various sections assert cars are being speeded. Autoists caught speeding may expect to pay a fine of $10, the mayor stated.

Several dogs have died mysteriously here recently, according to reports made to city police and there is a suspicion that poison is being administered to canines. In the meanwhile the dog-catcher is trying to curb the stray dog nuisance.

The Shade Tree commission met in city hall and suggested to tree owners they trim the branches which hang low. Such limbs interfere with pedestrians and automobiles, especially following a rain when the weight of the water causes the limbs to sag.

City police refused a request of a citizen for permission to arrange a hay-riding party during which bells ring. Police officials took the attitude that while it would no doubt be pleasing to the riders the noise would not please anyone else.

There are many hedges at intersections in the city which prevent autoists properly viewing on-coming automobiles. Property owners can help prevent auto crashes by trimming them to a less dangerous heighth. It is likely the city will take this action where there are hedges on city property.

St. Andrew's Choir Plan For Activities

Choir Organizes Into St. Andrew's Choir Guild; Officers Elected At Assembly

St. Andrew's Episcopal church choir met at the rectory, 1050 Beckford street, and decided that at the evening services during the fall and winter a series of song festivals will be observed at which time the hymns and the tunes and their history will be explained.

The choir organized into St. Andrew's Choir Guild, and elected the following officers: President, Mrs. Mayme Ott; vice president, Miss Jean Riley; secretary-treasurer, Miss Florence Hitchin.

These officers with the Rev. Charles J. Burton and Thomas J. Evans, will constitute the executive committee.

The Choir Guild will meet once a month. In the fall the guild will produce a musical play.

The pastor and the choir director were appointed a committee to arrange for a choir picnic sometime in July.

After the business session a social evening was pleasantly spent in games and those winning favors were Mrs. Ada Riley, Mrs. Mayme Ott, Miss Jean Riley and Chester J. W. Hetrick.

State Master Bagshaw Visits Pomona Grange

Gives Principal Address At Quarterly Meeting In Big Beaver Grange Hall

MUSIC FESTIVAL ONE OF FEATURES

Wednesday was a red letter day for the Pomona grangers of Lawrence county, when a large representation from the various subordinate granges were hospitably entertained by the members of Big Beaver grange in the latter's hall, with Pomona Master W. Sharp Fullerton presiding.

W. A. Scott, master of Big Beaver grange, welcomed the grangers. Mr. Scott had the honor of welcoming the grangers to the first Pomona meeting outside New Castle, 25 years ago. Suitable recognition was given those members who had attended the Pomona meeting 25 years ago, held in the Little Beaver grange hall, since disbanded. It was found that Pomona Treasurer G. L. Reno of East New Castle has attended all Pomona meetings since then with but one exception.

The response was given by Harry E. Emery, master of Westfield grange.

Bagshaw Is Heard

During the afternoon, State Master Kenzie Bagshaw and State Lecturer Mrs. Ira C. Gross spoke. Mr. Bagshaw was introduced by Past State Master J Audley Boak. Master Bagshaw stated that progress rests upon the development of a better Christian spirit and that to render service before claiming reward should be the philosophy of the grange.

Mrs. Gross was introduced by Pomona Lecturer Mrs. E. C. Wiggins.

Amid a setting of peonies and other spring flowers, a beautiful and impressive memorial service was given in honor of the 13 members who have passed away during the year by Pomona Chaplain Roy Thompson of Wilmington grange.

The invocation, scripture reading and benediction were given by Rev. E. A. Shoemaker, pastor of the Westfield Presbyterian church. The memorial address was given by Rev. Calvin Rose of the Second U. P. church of New Castle. Two beautiful solos were rendered by Mrs. E. C. Wiggins, accompanied by Mrs. Roy Thompson of the Wilmington grange. Miss Marian Thompson of Wilmington grange gave a reading, "The Other Room".

At intervals during the day, pep singing was led by Miss Marian Thompson, of Wilmington Grange. The lecturer, Mrs. E. C. Wiggins, conducted a Master's Quiz, and impromptu talks were given by Irwin Ropp, New Bedford; Earl Friday, Pleasant Hill; Mrs. Frank Jenkins, Big Beaver; and Mrs. Francis Boak, Willard.

Past State Master J. Audley Boak spoke briefly in the interests of a bigger and better Lawrence county.

Program Is Heard

The highlight of the evening session was the music festival, sponsored by the Pennsylvania State Grange, with five subordinate granges competing. Each chorus sang the required number, "Dear Land of Home," and one selected number. Those competing were Westfield mixed chorus, directed by Miss Ruth Gruber; Big Beaver mixed chorus, directed by W. H. McCullough; Ladies chorus of Willard, directed by Miss Mabel Harlan; Ladies chorus of Plaingrove, directed by Mrs. Samuel Patterson, and North Beaver mixed chorus, directed by Miss Jane Kyle.

First place was awarded to Big Beaver chorus, and second to Westfield chorus. The winning chorus will compete with other choruses from the state at the Middle Atlantic Lecturer's conference at State College, August 15-18.

The judges were: Mrs. William Caldwell, director of the Federation of Women's club chorus; Mrs. Paul Friend, director of the Central Presbyterian church choir; and Miss Esther Gibbons, director of vocal music at Ben Franklin Junior high.

Additional entertainment was furnished by members of the juvenile granges. East New Castle, directed by Mrs. Clarence Black, matron, presented a playlet, "Cora's Callers."

Pleasant Hill gave a sketch, "Safety," directed by Mrs. Earl Friday. Plaingrove was represented with a reading by Blanche Neeley, "Prepare Ye" Wilmington presented a dialogue, "A Worthwhile Organization" with Mrs. Logan Buckwalter, matron in charge. Westfield juveniles directed by Miss Janice Harmon, matron, presented three numbers in observance of Flag Day, a reading by Margaret McCurley, and two orchestra numbers. Big Beaver juveniles, directed by Mrs. W. H. McCullough, matron, presented a reading, by Florence Walker, and a violin solo by Helen Wilson, accompanied by her sister, Hazel.

The next meeting of Pomona grange will take place at East New Castle on August 30.

Italian Methodist Quarterly Meeting

District Superintendent Presides—Officials Are Named For Year

Rev. Dr. W. E. Bartlett, district superintendent of the Grove City District and conducting the fourth quarterly conference at the Ietlian Methodist church last evening, stated in part after hearing the fine reports on the year's work.

"This is the best report I have had on my district. You have my heart-felt cooperation in the work you and your good wife are doing. I could hardly believe it when looking at the grounds this evening, to think that such a transformation could be made. It is simply beautiful. Your pastor stated the work valuec at $500, but to me it represents a work of $1000. I do not know of any church in the conference that has accomplished as much in one year's time as this Italian church has. Your pastor, members of this official board and of the congregation need to be highly congratulated on the fine progress made. Continue in prayer and the other things necessary will come to pass."

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright 1938, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

CHILD'S REST DEEMED ALMOST AS IMPORTANT AS PROPER FOOD

Yesterday we discussed the fact that each person has two sets of nerves; the sympathetic set in charge of the body when we are under stress or when we are frightened and the parasympathetic system, which runs us when we are acting normally under normal conditions.

In a baby, these systems aren't always as well balanced as they are in an adult. What would happen to your infant if the sympathetic system took control? Well, if this happens you will notice that he is much more wide awake than usual. When he does sleep, he won't sleep as soundly or as long as other babies. When he is awake he will be irritable and hungry. When he eats, however, the food doesn't pass thru his system as it should because the parasympathetic nerves which look after such details as digestion are now dominated by the other system.

When this condition of hypertonicity exists, the child will often hold himself quite rigid. I have even known mothers to boast about how strong her baby's muscles were when actually the baby was suffering from hypertonicity. The child may become a serious feeding problem if this condition persists. Severe cases have been known to prove fatal as a direct result of the failure to digest food.

Babies do not tolerate excitement very well. They should be kept quiet and visitors shouldn't be admitted too often. They should have definite routines and these routines shouldn't be disturbed under any conditions.

Hypertonicity is curable. If you call your doctor when your baby shows these symptoms, he will take measures to quiet the sympathetic nerves, allowing the other set of nerves to resume control.

Even more significant, hypertonicity is preventable in most cases. The trouble rarely occurs in homes where the baby is kept quiet but it common in homes where the baby is the center of attraction, where people play with him all the time he is awake, where routines are ignored.

It is a wise thing for a mother to make her children rest for a few minutes before they eat. I know you must at some time have seen children come to the table vastly excited from some game they were playing. They are so wrought up they can't eat or, if they do, then they have stomach ache afterwards.

Every day the Quints are called into the nursery fifteen minutes before dinner and fifteen minutes before supper and they lie down in their cots for this quarter hour and relax. During this period, the parasympathetic nervous system gets full control again; the sympathetic nerves subside and the system becomes ready to take food and digest it properly.

I have placed this discussion on hypertonicity at the close of the articles on deficiency diseases because I often feel that correct rest and quiet are almost of as much importance to the child as some of the foods we give him.

By agreement between the county commissioners and the state highway department, the dirt road between Weigletown and Harlansburg will soon be paved with macadam. The specifications and plans are to be drawn and the contracts let so that the road can be built this summer.

When completed the road will be an important line between Ellwood City and Mercer. It is hoped to be able to have the plans ready for contract within the next two months.

Thomas C. Edmunds, registration commissioner has returned from Harrisburg where he was called to confer on recent legislation on the registration of voters. One good thing was accomplished, the temporary street lists were abandoned.

These lists were made before a primary and general election but were never complete. Final list is. The temporary lists were never anything more than an expense and did little good to party workers. The new law will save the county a little money.

Royal Train Makes Brief Stop At State Capital

Their Majesties Remain In Car

Large Guard Of Police And Troopers At Harrisburg During Stop

ROSES PRESENTED BY GOVERNOR JAMES

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 8.—The royal train bearing King George VI and Queen Elizabeth of Great Britain stopped for 15 minutes at Harrisburg this morning enroute to Washington, but none of the spectators gathered at the station saw the royal couple.

The train carrying their majesties arrived in this city on schedule after passing the pilot train just above Montgomery. The pilot train, bearing a large party of newspaper correspondents who have accompanied the royal party since it arrived in Canada, was delayed for an hour by a "hotbox."

One Hundred National Guardsmen snapped to attention as the monarch's train slipped into the station at 8:27 a. m.

No Activity On Train

No activity was observed aboard the blue-and-gold car containing their majesties, last of the 12-car train. Shades were partly drawn, and their majesties were reported resting in anticipation of the round of presidential and diplomatic functions awaiting them in the National Capital.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull, who welcomed the royal visitors upon their arrival at Niagara Falls, N. Y., last night, offered an explanation for the failure of the king and queen to put in an appearance.

Hull addressed newspapermen and a handful of local officials from the observation platform and asked for a report on weather conditions at Washington.

Royal Couple Resting

"The royal couple are resting," explained Hull. "They have been up late the last two or three nights."

Boxes containing bouquets of roses from Gov. Arthur H. James and his daughter, Miss Dorothy James, and from Mayor John A. F. Hall, were placed aboard the train by policemen.

The roses presented by Governor James and his daughter were identified as "better times" roses with stems 24 inches in length.

Eighty city policemen were on hand to provide extra protection for the royal train, with Adjutant General Edward Martin directing all arrangements.

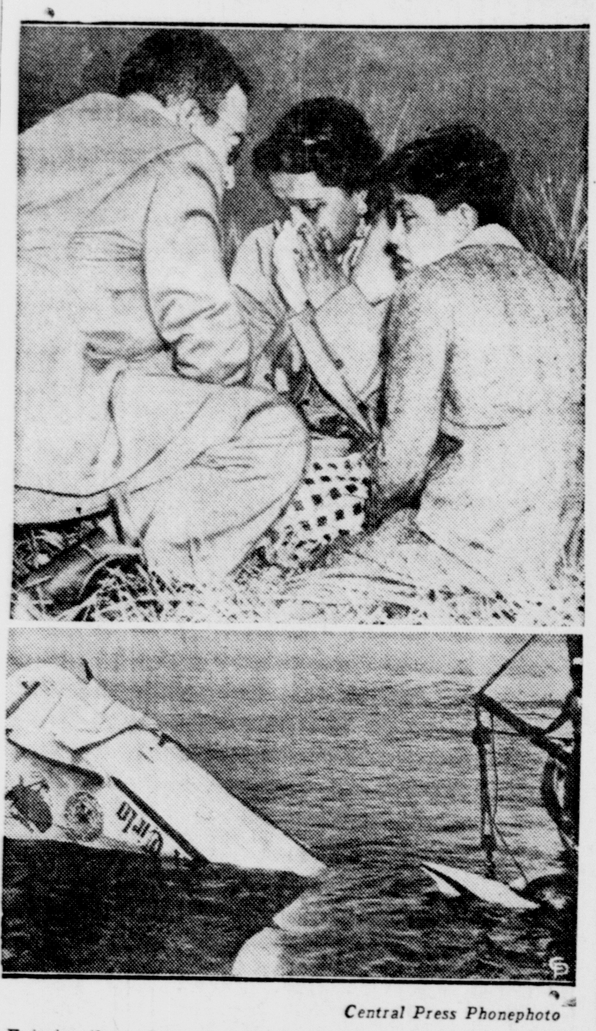

Several hundred state motor policemen roved the streets surrounding the station and no one was permitted to enter the train shed proper.

During its brief stay the royal train underwent the regular terminal inspection and was found to be in excellent shape for the run to Washington.

MOONEY GIRLS WIN

Mooney girls softball team won a league game last night at West Pittsburg over the West Pittsburg girls team 17 to 12. Martha "Tootie" Reiter pitched a swell game and banged out a homer. Jean Cerrutti was the heavy hitter for the Mooneys with two homers. Ann Stolitch and Rose Mooney also hit homers.

Wife Sees Mexican Ace Killed

Central Press Phonephoto

Enjoying the acclaim of all Mexico for his recent non-stop record-breaking flight from Mexico City to New York, Francisco Sarabia went to Washington with a good-will message for President Roosevelt. Then, off he went on a projected flight to Ciudad Lerdo, Durango. But death rode with him, and he crashed into the Potomac river after the takeoff with his wife and 10-year-old son looking on. Sarabia was killed. The camera tells you the story as his wife and son wept on the river bank, with a Mexican embassy official attempting to console them.

Maybe we're prejudiced, but it seems a bit nervy when a ruler who loots a neighbor's banks accuses another of "diplomatic discourtesy."

Telegrams Pour In For Governor

Governor James Congratulated For Decision To Sign Important Bill

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 8.—Telegrams and letters continued to pour into the executive offices today, congratulating Gov. Arthur H James upon his decision to sign the anti-injunction and labor relation bills passed by the 1939 general assembly.

The measures, bitterly opposed by Pennsylvania's labor unions—the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor (A. F. of L.) and the Pennsylvania Industrial Union Council (C. I. O.)—drastically revise the state's labor laws, among other things outlawing sit-down strikes and repealing the 1937 anti-labor injunction law.

Nine extra stenographers were drafted from other state departments as the governor's office force was swamped by the deluge of mail and unable to acknowledge receipt of the messages fast enough.

BECAUSE LIFE DEPENDS ON TIRE SAFETY— They Choose Firestone CHAMPION TIRES

FIRESTONE WINS 20th Consecutive Victory In Indianapolis 500-Mile Race

A merciless sun beat down upon the speedway as Wilbur Shaw drove to victory on Firestone Champion Tires. The blistering brick of the main stretch and the granite-hard surface of the turns and the back stretch put tire safety to the test supreme! Record after record was shattered. Speeds reached as high as 160 miles an hour on the straightaways, as 33 of the fastest drivers in the world waged a breath-taking battle for gold and glory.

Never before in all the history of the motor car have tires been put to such a torturous test. And never before has any tire so firmly established itself as a Champion in construction and performance, as well as in name. Here is dramatic proof of the extra strength which the revolutionary new Safety-Lock cord body provides in Firestone Champion Tires—of the extra protection against blowouts assured by the new and advanced Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process—of the extra mileage resulting from the tougher, wear-resisting rubber compounds in the sensational new Gear-Grip tread.

No longer can there be any question of which tire is safest. One tire—and only one—provides these exclusive safety construction features. One tire—and only one—has been on the winning cars at Indianapolis for 20 consecutive years. Motor car manufacturers enthusiastically adopted the Firestone Champion Tire for their 1939 models. Order your new car equipped with this amazing tire. Or drive in and let us equip your present car with a set of new Firestone Champion Tires, the one tire—and only one that is safety-proved on the speedway for your protection on the highway.

WILBUR SHAW, the 1939 winner

On May 30th, Wilbur Shaw drove to his second victory in the 500-mile Indianapolis Race on Firestone Champion Tires at an average speed of 115.03 miles an hour. Champion race drivers, whose lives and chances of victory depend on tire safety, know tire construction. That is why they select and buy Firestone Tires for their racing cars.

Baby needs new shoes—and he needs them well fitted.

His foot health is determined by his first pair of shoes

One-fourth of all the bones are in the two feet.

The 26 bones of each foot are delicately arranged.

They make a wonderfully adjusted support for the body.

Any disturbance to this mechanism upsets the balance.

Proper shoes help the infant grow strong and healthy.

Improperly fitted shoes cause foot ailments and defects.

Bad posture is prompted by improperly fitted shoes.

Bad posture will induce general ill health.

The fate of baby's foot health depends on proper shoes.

Shoes should give the foot a chance to function correctly.

"MARS" FLYER UNDER ARREST

Cheston Eshleman, center, with officers

Charged with larceny of a Camden, N. J., airplane and its blind flying instruments, Cheston Eshleman, Carlisle, Pa., student flyer who took off on a trip to "Mars" and landed in the Atlantic ocean 200 miles off Boston, is shown back in Boston after his rescue by fishermen. He is seen in custody of two officers. Eshleman said he hired the plane for a one hour flight but insisted he was planning to reach Mars. He denied he was an admirer of "Wrong Way" Corrigan or that he got the idea from newspaper comic strips of adventures in other planets.

Robins Build Nest on Mop—and It's Big Success!

The nest atop the mop

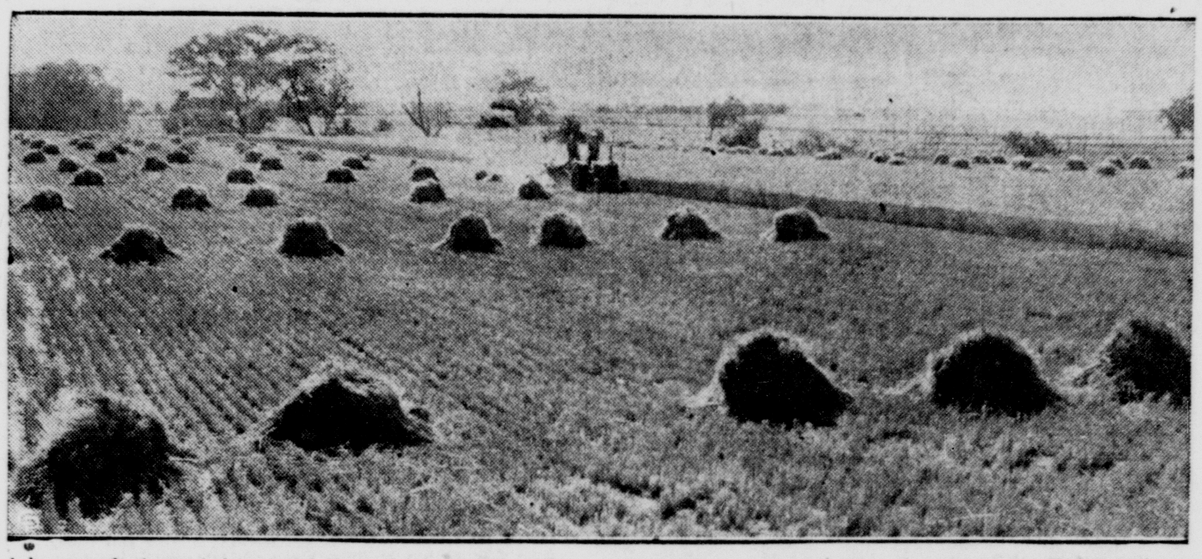

Closeup of the baby birds—and are they hungry!

At last, mama returns—with plenty for all

The Robins of McKeesport, Pa.—all five of them—are quite happy in their new home, thank you—even if its foundation is just an old floor mop which Mrs. W. C. Hitchens happened to lean against the wall of the back porch of the Hitchens home a month ago. Discovering that a pair of robins had appropriated the mop, the Hitchens let them have it and got a new one. Shortly after the nest was completed three tiny blue dotted eggs appeared in it. Then came the great day—triplets and all three husky, hungry youngsters! Above exclusive photos show several scenes of the robins in their new home.

Bumper Crop Forseen as Annual Kansas Wheat Harvest Begins

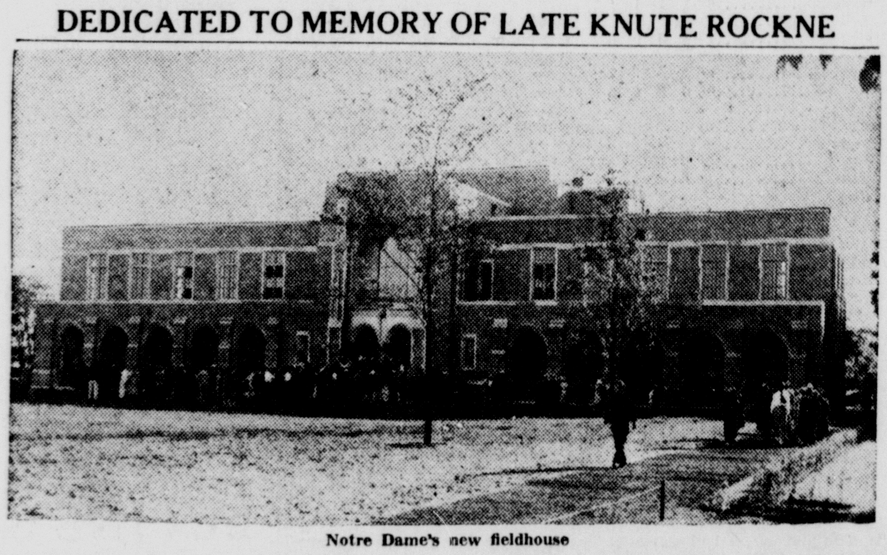

A bumper wheat crop is in prospect for southern and eastern Kansas as the annual harvest begins in that state, world's largest hard wheat area. In the western section, the one-time dust bowl area, a spring drouth has materially reduced prospects. The total harvest this year is expected to reach approximately 125,000,000 bushels of good quality wheat.

GRETA GARBO, HIGHEST PAID ACTRESS, FACES TEST

Will Greta Garbo, highest paid film actress, soon retire? Hollywood today asked this question as the Swedish star began camera work on the first of the last two pictures—"Ninotchka" and "Madam Curie"—she is to make under her current contract. Though she has fallen in box office polls from fourth place in 1932 to 60th last year, Miss Garbo's value to her studio has remained high because of her tremendous following in foreign countries. What effect the extensive bans on Hollywood's product established by Germany, Italy and other dictator-controlled areas, plus quota restrictions in other countries, will have on the new Garbo pictures' world-wide popularity remains to be seen. Pictured above with Miss Garbo are other high-salaried women stars.

Pulaskis Hope To Halt Slovak Winning Streak

League Leaders And Oaklanders Tangle At Clifton Flats Field Tonight

WEST PITTSBURG TO MEET ELDERS

Hoping to halt the Slovak club's winning streak and put a crimp into their reign as city baseball league leaders, the highly spirited K. Pulaski team will appear at the Clifton Flats field tonight at 5:45 o'clock. Manager Steve "Snag" Russell and his Slovak team will be ready for a tough battle.

Manager Russell will start either Carik or Lenhart on the hill, with Balla in reserve. Manager Maslyk will have Mrozek or Brownie Ostrosky on the hill.

St. Joes Vs. Indies

Down at the Cedar Street field the Lawrence Indies will battle the St. Josephs team and will pitch Savage or Majocha, with the Saints using Picato. The Ryantown team will be host to the Columbus club tonight at the Ryantown field. Campbell and Perritta will be the opposing heavers.

The Elder A. C. will be host to the West Pittsburg team at the fine new Lockley field, and will use Carey or Lamm on the hill, or it may be Coen. Manager Danny DeGenova will have Tonsetic or Hill on the knoll.

The ancient natural rivals of the West Side district, the Union Civics and West Side Tigers, will play at the Lee Avenue field. This should be a honey of a battle. Manager McCormick will pitch either Paul Morrison or Updegraf, or it may be the veteran Jada Hoffmaster. Manager Jones will have his ace, Joe Smith, ready to work with Shaw in reserve.

SYLVAN HEIGHTS LEAGUE

With players in the Sylvan Heights League swinging some mean drivers and brassies these days, Friday evening's matches should prove interesting. Shelby Social will have its hands full with the strong Saegertown team, which has failed to hit its stride yet, and the boys are beginning to feel mean about their continued losses. The second place Hardware Merchants will tackle Pennsylvania R. R., which also boasts of some good boys who should get into their stride soon. Other matches will find the Unions opposing Iron City, on Tee 1; Babs vs. News on Tee 5; Carnegie-Illinois Steel vs. Reynolds, Summers and McCann on Tee 10.

Genaro Boxes Kowalik, Kurtz Tackles West, Moran Fights Heck

PRINCETON FARMER TO TACKLE GREEN

Three of the best amateur boxing bouts, possible to arrange, have been docketed for The Arena Monday night when the Kahle-Ashton Post No. 8, Society of the 28th Division, A. E. F., sponsors a pugilistic embroglio of eight fights with which to raise funds to help defray their expenses to the Williamsport convention.

The best looking matches are: Steve Kowalik, McKeesport, conqueror of Ted Delarado, the East Liverpool G. G. champion, vs. Frankie Genaro, Youngstown G. G. Champion, who vanquished Joey Simms, of Youngstown, here. They are 147 pounders.

Frankie Moran, Lawrence county's best 126 pounder, vs. Johnny Heck, of Pittsburgh. Both hold a victory over Buzz-Saw Mooney, of New Brighton.

Muddy Kurtz, McKeesport's One-Man-Circus, vs. Jimmy West, of Pittsburgh. They fought a sensational bout with Kurtz winning the nod recently at Rochester.

Kowalik came through over Delarado in the last fistic jamboree in The Arena. The judges split the decision and Referee McMahon's vote in favor of the "Blonde Pole" carried.

Knocked Down Twice

Genaro knocked down Joey Simms twice in the second round, staggered the colored lad in the third and won the decision. To knock down Kowalik will be something Genaro may not be able to accomplish. In fact, it appears like a toss-up bout.

When Moran battled Mooney here he rattled the "Buzz-Saw" in the first and in the second, took some of the teeth out of the "Buzz-Saw." In the last round Mooney rallied and drove Moran to the ropes. Moran pulled himself together and was flashing when the bell ended the fight. Moran got the award.

The writer did not witness the Kurtz-West fight but, according to Tom McMahon, who refereed the scrap in Rochester, "the boys stole the show. It was a long time since I saw such a good fight. Kurtz did not have time to pull many tricks. West was on top of him swinging at all times. Muddy scored one knockdown. At the end of the fight he had a slight edge and got the decision," McMahon explained. He recommended the return fight.

Weseyl Rodgers, Grove City welterweight who has won and lost here, and is regarded as a potential amateur pugilistic possibility, will tackle Joe Cimaca, of Pittsburgh. Grove City fans like Wesley so much they intend to bring a crowd to root him toward victory.

Hard-Working Youngster

Billy Reale, of Princeton, has been given time out from his farm chores such as milking cows at 5 a. m., cultivating ground and building fences, to come here and fight Johnny Green, "fighting Irishman" of Pittsburgh. If Green is as smart as Regis O'Brien fans will see a good fight because Reale knows nothing but fight and farm. They weigh 160.

Baby Face Retardo, who is a midget in size, but a dynamo in action, will come from Ellwood City to take on a newcomer to the local ring, Walter Yanish, of Pittsburgh. These boys weigh only 112 pounds and both are filled with vim and vigor. They have been out of short pants only a short time.

Jack Sawyer, a "hard nut" from Sawyer, proved by his victories over Sully Tonti and Nick Cottage, rugged middleweights, will fight Frank Pettit, of Pittsburgh. This ought to be a good bout. The other scrap will be between Sunny Horne, of Niles, and Al Packard, of Youngstown, at 160 pounds.

The air-cooling system in The Arena is working fine, according to Ed. Richardson, owner of the city's sports palace. The Jefferson A. C. which will stage the show Monday night for the ex-soldiers, believes the crowd will surpass all others in attendance.

Reiter A. C. To Be Reorganized

There will be a reorganization meeting of the Reiter A. C. softball team tonight at Gaston Park at 6 o'clock. The following players with the Reiters last year are asked to show up at the meeting:

Steve Shaftic, Bus Recznik, Joe Shaftic, John Phillips, Jock Pack, Nick Alfera, M. Dombroski, Tom Doyle, Toy Laitenen, Dave Hahn, "Si" Carson, Brownie Ostrosky, E. Laitenen, Harry Hordig, Jack Warnock and John Shaftic.

CHURCH GOLF LEAGUE

The matches in the New Castle Church golf league will be played at the New Castle Field Club course tonight at 5:30 o'clock. This will be the first visit of the church golfers to the Field Club layout. There are five matches to be played.

Rambling Around World Of Sports

Diamond tid-bits—Flash! Flash! One of the grandest fellows in the history of baseball, Carl "Square Pants" Hubbell, is headed towards the minors, according to foreign correspondence. Although the rumor hails from New York, it sounds silly . . . Lou McKenna, manager of the St. Paul Saints, is on a hunting trip. He wants some good baseball talent for his skidding club, and lots of it. The other seven teams in the American Association consider St. Paul a "push over" . . Everything is all set for June 18 which has been set aside as "Joe McCarthy Day," in Yankee Stadium. Not to take any credit away from McCarthy, but we have often wondered, how would McCarthy do piloting a team like the Brownies? . . . Monte Stratton, who looked like a sure bet to go down in the annals of baseball as one of the greatest pitchers, until a hunting accident cut short his career, tosses to his Chicago White Sox teammates during batting practice . . .

Skippin' round the sports world— War Admiral, who will be retired to stud within a day or so, was a profitable investment to his owner, Samuel D. Riddle. By copping 21 out of 26 races, the gallant son of Man O'War earned $273,240 which should buy plenty of oats for the remainder of War Admiral's days amid the beauty of Maryland . . . After the 1939 schedule, Birmingham-Southern college, a member of the Dixie Conference, will discontinue football. The institution has been suffering an annual deficit of $10,000 . . . Note to Ohio State grid foes: Howard Wedebrook, termed the greatest punter in the history of Ohio State, has re-enrolled in the Buckeye school. Most of his boots travel 65 yards. . . .

Local sport shorts—Lester "Bus" Reiber, former New Castle high floor ace, who won the plaudits of Duquesne University followers due to his sensational playing as a member of the Freshmen passers during the past season, is home to spend the summer . . . Jimmy Belmont, of Pittsburgh, who was a contender for the welterweight title only a few years ago, is visiting here. Belmont, who fought at the Jolly Bowl numerous times, says: "New Castle is the best fight town I ever fought in. Give the fans action and they are for you. It was always a treat for me to fight in New Castle." He is the guest of Pete Boy, Ellwood City ex-boxer . . . Jimmy Copple, one of the city's foremost baseball addicts, after watching Bob Grove pin back the ears of Cleveland, rates the Red Sox caster as one of the sweetest in the business today. He is far from through, Copple says.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Fritzie Zivic who defeated Kenny LaSalle, Monday night in Pittsburgh visited the writer last night. He did not bear a mark of his recent bout. . . . .Tony Lazzeri has received his release from the Giants. . . .Wydney Wooderson is enroute to the United State hopeful of winning the mile event in the Princeton invitation meet. . . .Ralph Guldahl set out today to win, if possible, for the third time the National Open Golf championship.

Indications are the race in the Lawrence County Baseball league during the closing part of the first half of the schedule will be a race with a capital R. Although Bessemer, 1938 champs, now heads the loop, the Hillsville aggregation is a dark horse and may give last season's champions and the New Castle Hot Tops a real fight. Hillsville scored a strike when they secured the pitching services of Lefty Orenic, of Youngstown. So far he has pitched two 3-hit games, one against Ellwood City, Beaver County league winners last season and the other against Wampum, runners-up in the Lawrence loop in 1938. The New Castle Hot Tops have strengthened their team having annexed Bob and Jim Patton, twirling brothers from East Palestine. Bob hurled a three hit game against Wampum. However, the Wampumites won the tilt. Wampum has been playing "In and Out" baseball. They beat the Hot Tops and Bessemer which shows that if they get going they will make things tough for the leaders. Ellwood City has a good defense but their defense has been weak, while the newcomers the New Castle East Side Redskins showed in their first game they have fair material.

Although Billy Conn is not yet a legitimate light-heavy-weight, he has shoulders like a Hercules. A few nights ago we met Conn and his manager, Johnny Ray. Billy has broadened out considerably since we last met him. . A Conn-Bettina fight for 175 lb championship would draw big. . . .As stated some time ago, Elmo (the Mighty) Clark has a bad hand. Fear is expressed he may lose the member because of infection. . . . Gus Camp, who worked for a produce company here some years ago then fought some preliminary bouts in Pittsburgh, is yet there. . . .Emmett Rocco, former heavyweight boxer, is a park caretaker in Ellwood City. . . .Red Robinson, Pittsburgh referee, is also a baseball umpire. . . .Bessemer will enter the semi-professional tournament in Youngstown.

George Chip, former middleweight champion of the world is wearing a broad smile for which he has a good reason. One son, Bill, has passed the physical test to enter the Naval Academy, at Annapolis. He will probably receive the oath today. Another son George, is with the Truscon Steel company, Youngstown, studying draftsmanship, and a daughter, Mary Louise, is a graduate nurse in the Emergency hospital, Washington, D. C. As for George, he is a watchman at the new plant of the Pennsylvania Power Company at West Pittsburg.

The K. Pulaski and St. Joseph Ecclesian club baseball game in the city league at Glasser field last night was called in the last of the fourth by Umpire Fruitt with the Saints leading 4 to 2 and the Pulaskis having two men on base and no outs.

The game will be replayed at a later date, it was announced.

Pirates Hand Boston Defeat

Bill Swift Removes Stingers From Boston Bees 2 To 0

SENATORS WHIP INDIANS TWICE

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, June 8.—It seems only yesterday that Tony Lazzeri of the flashing black eyes was a gangling rookie at the Yankee camp in Florida.

Actually it is 13 long years since Tony came up to win undying fame under the big top. For it was Tony who made thousands of new baseball fans and set the pace for an ever growing band of great ball players of Italian parentage.

Lazzeri Released

We can recall—as Tony swung into his stride as a great second baseman and a dangerous hitter—how Italians of all ages used to flock to the Yankee bleachers to cheer their piasano.

But today the cheers no longer ring in Tony's ears. For Tony is no longer a major leaguer. He drew his release from the Giants yesterday after a pitiful exhibition of fielding that played a large part in the Cubs' easy 7-1 victory over the Giants.

And as Tony passes, that other great Italian from the Golden Gate—Joe DiMaggio—comes back after a month's absence to pace the Yanks to a 5-2 decision over the White Sox.

Pirates Tame Bees

The Yanks are now nine full games ahead of the Red Sox who were rained out in St. Louis, 10 in front of the White Sox and 12 ahead of the Indians who dropped a pair to the Senators, 10-4, and 13-9, the Senators scoring seven runs in the ninth to take the nightcap.

The Pirates shut out the Bees, 2-0, on Bill Swift's steady pitching and the Reds managed to stagger in against the Phils, 5-4.

Van Mungo and the Dodgers dropped a night game to the speedy Cardinals, 7-3, before a capacity house. The Dodgers have now drawn some 68,000 paid admissions to their two night tilts and their attendance figures are far ahead of all clubs in both leagues.

The Philadelphia Athletics blasted Schoolboy Rowe for 14 hits to defeat the Detroit Tigers, 5-4.

National Open Starts Today

Ralph Guldahl, 1938 Champion Hopes To Repeat, Also Won Title In 1937

PHILADELPHIA IS SCENE OF TOURNEY

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—Pursued by a field expected to total 165, impertubable Ralph Guldahl—the man who picks himself to win—set out today in quest of headlines that would stand out boldly in golf history as long as the game might endure, his mission being to win the National Open championship for the third straight time. By nightfall tonight, he will have a fair line on his chances—by tomorrow evening his chief contenders will be established, the thing is scheduled to be settled finally in Saturday's dusk, possibly with startling results.

The point is the burly Norwegian from Texas does things with a free-wheeling flourish, and is at his terrific toughest toward the close of spotlight competition of this nature. He broke the all-time open scoring record when he won for the first time at Detroit in 1937, and fired a sub-par 69 to come smashing from behind on his final round. Another final 69 at Denver enabled him to overhaul the field and win the title again last year. In the recent Masters Invitation at Augusta they told him he needed a 33 to win as he started the back nine—and he shot a 33, no more, definitely no less.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

We hope that the farms surrounding this little town received enough of the rain of last night to help them . . . things were getting rather dry and they say that in the central part of the state things are just not growing at all. There is always something to worry a farmer . . . and it also becomes the problem of the city dweller if the crops don't turn out good.

* * *

As we have said before the High School Alumni will hold their annual meeting and party at famous Cascade Park . . . June 23rd has been set aside for the event. A business meeting and get-together will be held from eight to nine . . . dancing from nine 'til twelve with a floor show around about eleven o'clock. Any class wishing to hold a picnic beforehand in the park grove, is invited to make themselves at home . . . class secretaries have been notified by the President of the Association. More details will follow.

Tomorrow evening is the evening set aside by the School Board to reward the seniors for their excellent work in completing school work required by them. At the usual time the class will file into the Auditorium of the Cathedral and the program will begin. Then before you know it . . . it will be all over and another group will belong to the High School Alumni Association . . . may we take this opportunity to invite them to the Annual Meeting and Party on June 23rd.

* * *

It's getting around that time when strawberries and ice cream go very well together . . . in fact we know of several such affairs and one will be held tonight on the lawn at the corner of Butler and East Washington. Maybe we will meet there.

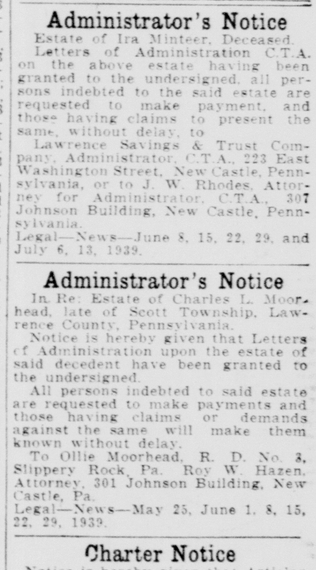

* * *

As we have mentioned before . . . a great many people are talking about where they will go on their vacation . . . but on the other hand there are many folks who will not have an opportunity to take a vacation. We suggest that these folks get in the old bus or the bus of a friend and travel over the County of Lawrence. We have here in this county some of the finest scenery to be found anywhere. There are hundreds of places that you don't know about . . . you might think you do but just travel around a little and we are willing to bet that you will find several roads that you have never been on before . . . and if the sights are not interesting . . . then there must be something wrong someplace. So let's see Lawrence County First.

THE GUMPS—LET'S HOPE THE SEER IS WRONG

Byrd Honored

Admiral Richard E. Byrd

Among those honored at collegiate graduation exercises this June is Admiral Richard E. Byrd, granted an honorary degree of doctor of fortitude and faith at Beaver college at Jenkintown, Pa. Few Leaders Off As Much As Point, Light Selling Is Carried Over

By LESLIE GOULD

NEW YORK, June 8.—The stock market lost ground today, as light selling was carried over from the previous close. A few leaders were down as much as a point, but losses generally were limited to fractional proportions.

Markets throughout Europe were somewhat easier, particularly in Paris and Amsterdam. Most foreign currencies also were lower.

Westinghouse Electric, Owens-Illinois Glass, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, International Nickel, Union Pacific, Santa Fe and Air Reduction were among representative stocks to give up a point or more.

Lesser declines were shown by Bethlehem, Youngstown, General Motors, Anaconda, Kennecott, Consolidated Edison, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, Texas Corp., N. Y. Central, Pennsylvania R. R. and American Can.

DuPont was an independent firm spot in the chemical section, holding fractionally above last night's closing level.

Hillsville Tops Shelby Socials

Limestone Crew Wins Second Triumph Over Tubers By Score Of 3-0

ELLWOOD CITY, June 8.—Hillsville won its second victory in the Lawrence County Baseball league over the Shelby Socials last night at Ewing Park when it blanked the Ellwood nine 3-0. The first game between the two teams ended in a tie and in the play-off last Sunday the limestone crew won over Ellwood by a single point.

McCready, a youngster in his late teens, who has just come to the Socials from the American Legion junior league ranks, and who shows great promise, hurled for the losers and gave only five hits as did the winning pitcher, Orenic, but costly errors proved to be the stumbling block for the Tubers.
